Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 01 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry for most, but often cloudy. Sunnier in the northwest.

Today:
Another rather cloudy start for many with some light showers in central and eastern parts at first, dying out through the morning. Some warm sunny intervals developing, best in the north and the west. Breezy in the south and southeast.

Tonight:
Mostly cloudy with some light showers in parts of the east overnight, whilst clear spells are possible in the north and west with a few mist or fog patches developing.

Thursday:
Again, a rather cloudy start for many, but cloud breaking more readily than recent days away from cloudier North Sea coasts to give warm sunny spells. Breezy in the south.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Mostly fine and dry with sunny spells. A little cooler and cloudier in some eastern parts. Showers and thunderstorms increasingly likely on Sunday, especially in the southwest.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.